New Audio Clip/Podcast Feature on DES Website

Listen and download DES Public Service Announcements, Commissioner Messages and Opinion Editorials

Concord, N.H. – The New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services has added a new audio clip/podcast feature to its website. The audio clips webpage helps to diversify the way that DES can relay important information about the environment to the public.

The inaugural podcast features DES Commissioner Tom Burack's Column, "The Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative Moves Forward," from the November/December issue of the agency's newsletter, Environmental News. The file is available for downloading at www.des.nh.gov/audioclips/index.asp.

In the next year, DES plans to expand the types of multi-media information available on its website to include streaming video links. With plans to update the audio clip/podcast webpage on a regular basis, DES would encourage interested individuals to bookmark the page www.des.nh.gov/audioclips/index.asp. For more information about the DES audio clip/podcast webpage, please contact Jim Martin, DES Public Information Officer at (603) 271-3710 or James.Martin@des.nh.gov.
